The programme is run by an occupational therapist, physiotherapist and a clinical psychologist.

The programme is based on research evidence of what helps sufferers improve their lives and our outcome measures are very positive.

WHAT DOES THE PROGRAMME COVER?

We provide mutual support and time for discussion for people who have suffered back pain mostly in isolation and often being misunderstood by others.

We address the long-term effects: physical, emotional, social and occupational of chronic pain and plan constructive ways forward.

We work to identify the factors that improve and worsen the experience of pain, including vicious cycles, activity avoidance, low mood and hopelessness and social isolation.

The programme includes:
- Addressing physical exercise and mobility issues
- Addressing the impact of chronic pain on carers, partners and friends
- Developing practical coping strategies
- Encouraging acceptance
- Enhancing independence
- Enhancing life enjoyment
- Learning relaxation and mindfulness techniques
- Managing sleep problems
- Promoting positive thinking

Each individual’s experience of pain and associated needs are different. We aim to cover a wide range of issues so everyone gains something positive and useful from the programme.

HOW DO I JOIN THE PROGRAMME?

Discuss the possibility of joining the programme with your GP or other healthcare professionals you see for your pain management.
